

20th June – 22nd June 2012

CARGILL ANIMAL NUTRITION Seminar in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Summary:

Cargill Animal Nutrition, had held last June 20 to 22, 2012, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the Fourth Edition of "Nutrition for Tomorrow Course". This year the subject was Feed Production – from ingredient quality to feed processing technologies. The different course subjects were presented by Brazilian specialist and the main part, related to feed processing, was taken by Prof. Ernst Nef, from Swiss Institute of Feed Technology, Switzerland.

The course had more than 200 participants from Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Colombia, México and Venezuela. The feedback of the participants was the best while most of them were nutritionists or feed mill managers. All of them are challenged by the new global grain availability and cost, as well as how to achieve most advantage of it through trade and production of the final feeds.
